

Why Polar Bears are in Danger

Polar bears live in the north pole and they eat fish from the sea. So why are they in danger?

It is known that they are not able to keep their babies for a long time. Also loss of sea ice from their habitat due to climate change is the biggest threat.

This means that ice is breaking up ,stopping them from walking anywhere to hunt. In better areas, they are losing their food and their health is not really good . They have also stopped breeding.

You can now can mainly see them in books, drawings, movies zoos and the North Pole.